MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD:SUBJECT: CIA Annexes to Budget Submissions Held by HPSCI

1 Duane Andrews phoned me on 18 December at 1400 hours. His sinuses were bothering him. He also wanted to tell me that he is actively using for background and comparative analysis our "old" annexes to congressional budget submissions. These are sensitive and go back to about fiscal year 77. Duane explained that he really needed them, did not doubt that we had orally agreed that they would return them to us, and Duane promised that indeed they would be returned when no longer in use.

2 He said that he had discussed this matter with the comptroller, who posed no objection to the Committee keeping the annexes for as long as they were needed and really in use. I told Duane that I would pass the word up along my line and, that unless he were to hear differently from me, we would follow Danny's lead. Quite frankly, I believe it will make precious little difference to make a fuss about this. They are determined to keep these annexes and, while Mike O'Neil was rather preemptory in his remarks, Duane took the time and patience to explain a real need. Same difference, perhaps, but I do recommend that we not make a pitched battle about this unless there is some imperative about which I am unaware.
